Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
  - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
- 3. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fujimoto (JP 11-095519) in view of Yoshida et al. (US 5,602,633).

Fujimoto (...519) discloses a color image forming apparatus comprising: a transfer belt (213) which feeds a transfer member (P); a plurality of image forming units (Pa, Pb, Pc and Pd), which are disposed facing towards the transfer belt (figure 1), wherein each of the image forming units form a desired image and sequentially transfers the formed image on the transfer member fed by the transfer belt device ([0026]-[0028]); and where the transfer belt device at least in a portion in which the image forming units have been disposed is arranged such that it is inclined with respect to the ground (figure 1). Each of the image forming units includes, a rotary image carrier (222a, 222b, 222c and 222d); and a developing unit (224a, 224b, 224c and 224d) which develops a latent image formed on the image carrier with a toner is located in a lower right quadrant when the transfer belt device in the image forming unit is positioned in a lower left quadrant as viewed in an axial direction in which the image carrier is rotated (figure 1).

However, the features mentioned previously, but does not disclose that a cleaning unit of one image forming unit is partly overlapped by an adjacent developing unit of another image forming unit. Yoshida et al. (...633) disclose a plurality of image forming units, where the cleaning unit of one image forming unit is partially overlapped by an adjacent developing unit of another image forming unit (figure 1). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have a cleaning unit of one image forming unit is partially overlapped by an adjacent developing unit of Fujimoto (...519) since such a configuration, as disclosed by Yoshida et al. (...633), requires less space than a non-overlapping configuration.

4. Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fujimoto (JP 11-095519) in view of Yoshida et al. (US 5,602,633) as applied to claim 8 above, and further in view of Reese et al. (US 5,272,510).

Fujimoto (...519) in view of Yoshida et al. (...633) disclose the features mentioned previously, but do not disclose the claimed waste toner container. Reese et al. (...510) disclose a waste toner container (24) containing therein a waste toner recovered by a cleaning unit, where the waste toner container is located at a bottom portion of an image forming apparatus under a transfer device, and is formed into a substantial triangle in cross section (figure 1). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have the claimed waste toner container so that waste toner can be easily removed from the apparatus, as disclosed by Reese et al. (...510).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-3, 5-7 and 10-19 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

- 6. Applicant's arguments filed 3/21/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
- 7. Applicant argues that there is no teaching of the overlappling feature contained in claim 8 by either Fujimoto (JP 11-095519) or Yoshida et al. (US 5,602,633). However, this is incorrect, as explained above, Yoshida et al. (...633) disclose this feature.

Final Rejection

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 2852
